Your Voice Makes a Difference

Jim Bradford, VRTA President

Think back to the 1930's before teachers established the NRTA, AARP, VRTA and local teacher retired units. What retirement benefits were available for retired teachers and other retired Americans?

What retirement benefits did your grandparents have?

What retirement benefits did teachers have?

Who initiated the change for retirement benefits?

The desire of retired teachers to encourage and promote retirement benefits for teachers and other Americans can be documented by the following:

Virginia

1935 – Dr. Conelia Storrs Adair, teacher, founded the Virginia Retired Teachers Association.

1942 - The Virginia General Assembly passed the Retirement Act.

1950 - All Virginia teacher salaries were equalized.

1952 - VRS became an independent trust fund.

National

1947 - Dr. Percy Andrus, teacher, founded the National Retired Teachers Association.

1958 - Dr. Percy Andrus, teacher, founded the AARP.

1982 – NRTA merged with the AARP.

1935 – President Roosevelt established Social Security.

1965 - Medicare and prescription benefits were established by the U. S. Congress.

2010 – Affordable Care Act was passed by the U. S. Congress.

My message to each VRTA member is to honor the past, but recognize the fact that your retirement benefits are under tremendous political pressure for change. The NRTA, VRTA, and AARP have an overwhelming challenge of safe guarding your retirement benefits. The VRTA state conferences have been a successful forum for informing the membership with factual information. The VRTA conferences provide a meaningful and effective way for our membership to address the membership's legislative goals and objectives.

“This year there will be a striking difference between our approach to legislators and the approach of businesses and other interest groups as we focus on the positive and look for the good....We are going to appeal to the human need that money and fear do not assuage.”

President's Goals and Objectives

Membership Enhancement – 60,000 plus Virginia retired teachers – 7000 plus

VRTA members—Continue to increase VRTA members.

Legislative – Keep members informed about legislative concerns/interests.

Maintain Professional Relations and Contacts —Work with other groups to promote VRTA/NRTA interests.

Volunteerism – Encourage members to be active in youth and community activities. Teachers/educators are a very talented group.

NRTA – Encourage membership for a national voice in legislative issues.

FOCUS ON THE GOOD

Recently, I heard a sermon in which a reference was made to an English philosopher who was studying evil. I can't think of a more depressing and less productive way to spend time. Although there is an abundance of evidence of evil in the world, we only need to stop and think for a minute to realize how much good also exists. Good just usually doesn't make the front page. It would be foolish to ignore the presence of evil and of problems around us; however, down through history, those who have made a positive impact on the world have believed that good overcomes evil. Without this belief, they would not have had the perseverance to pursue their dreams and the stamina to overcome obstacles. Therefore, the challenge for VRTA this year is to focus on the positive and look for the good.

Our history reminds us of successes in the past, recent ones being the establishment of the enhanced retirement benefit and the health insurance credit with additional improvements and the defeat of the attempts of legislators to place limits and requirements on VRS investments. These successes resulted from knowledge of the issues and the persuasive techniques teachers used in their classrooms for years. Although we sometimes refer to ourselves as education advocates lobbying for or against a particular bill, we really are "encouragers" with the goal of bringing out the best in others who will work to provide "the good" not just for ourselves, but for others who will follow us.

This year there will be a striking difference between our approach to legislators and the approach of businesses and other interest groups as we focus on the positive and look for the good. Legislators are besieged by lobbyists with deep pockets and those who demand or threaten in order to be successful. We are going to appeal to the human need that money and fear do not assuage.

We hope that every unit will have at least one member at the Legislative Workshop in Blackstone on Monday, October 7, where we will discuss this approach. Also, immediately after lunch on Monday, VRS staff will make a presentation to the assembly in the auditorium.

Together, with determination and a belief that good eventually will overcome problems, we look forward to a productive, successful 2014 General Assembly session.

A Word from Our Lobbyist by Bonnie Atwood

I think that most of you, if not all of you, know about my serious illness this year. For those who don't, I will briefly say that after a wonderful Christmas and New Year's holiday, I was looking forward to getting back to life at the Virginia General Assembly. As I learn more each year, and step up my skills, it is actually fun to strategize and to spar with the decision makers. The year 2013 was going to be my first year free of eldercare; I felt like I was in perfect health; and I was going to give lobbying my full attention.

But that first week of January, I was diagnosed with a form of leukemia, picked up by a routine blood test. I was rushed into the hospital, and a brand new—and harsh course of chemotherapy was immediately begun. Many of you have undergone chemo, and various treatments, so I don't have to tell you how it ravages your body and tries to rob you of all your hopes and dreams. It was especially frustrating to be lying in a hospital bed that was just a short walk to the Virginia Capitol, which is where I wanted to be.

But my story has a very happy ending, and the Virginia Retired Teachers Association is very much a part of that. I felt your prayers they gave me strength. I received notes and cards and emails from so many of you. That's what got me through.

I went home from the hospital in April, weak but lucky to be alive. I could not go out at all, but I could read the papers, and witness the shocking news coming out of the Capitol. I have had improvement ever since. Every day is a little victory.

This coming year will be a critical one for VRTA. Frightening stories about pension rights are playing out all over the country. This year I am strong; this year I am re-committed; and this year our VRTA team will be a strong voice working with the Virginia legislative process. I promise you that.

It's a new day. As you know, I am totally nonpartisan. I will support the women and men who work best for VRTA, no matter which side of the aisle they sit. With help from all of you, I will do my best to explain YOUR views. We've had a rocky time these past few months with the highest elected official in the Commonwealth, but we are on the verge of an election. I am following each candidate and his platform. During this election season, I will be speaking personally with each one of the statewide candidates. Some I see as dangerous for the priorities of VRTA; others I find to be more helpful. I will continue to work with Bea Morris to bring out all relevant information so that we can be an informed membership.

Regarding the Senators and Delegates, the time most effectively spent is the time spent with those who are resting on middle ground: legislators who may not have yet taken a stand for retired teachers, but who have not dug in their heels against us. I can identify three issues right off the bat that have to be on our radar: 1. Avoiding becoming another Detroit. 2. Watchdogging the homeschool movement, which is now being framed as a civil right. 3. Examining national educational standards initiatives, like online learning and Common Core.

Identifying these individuals and providing a clear, accurate, persuasive, persistent message is the key. Your membership has done a great job of communicating with your lawmakers. Any good salesman will tell you: don't stop. You and I must keep courteously reminding them who we are and what we stand for, building relationships that will take us well beyond the year 2014, and serve the members who are yet join us. These are services that I will provide for you, and it is my pleasure to do so.

RETIRED TEACHERS DAY IN VIRGINIA

In 1996 the General Assembly passed a resolution declaring January 31 Retired Teachers Day in Virginia. However, until last year, this designation had not been observed. On January 31, 2013, eighteen retired teachers gathered at the General Assembly building and met with Del. Ken Plum and Del. Joe Morrissey and then were introduced at the beginning of the noon session in the Senate by Sen. John Miller and in the House by Del. Morrissey.

On Thursday, January 30, 2014, we are planning a similar observance. (January 31, a Friday, is not the best day to meet legislators.) Please plan to join us as we talk with legislators and are recognized in both chambers of the General Assembly.

Details of the day will be discussed at the Legislative Committee Workshop at Blackstone on Monday, October 7. Information will be posted on the website and will be sent to district presidents later in the fall.

Phyllis Eastridge Attends NRTA Community Service Conference

Phyllis Eastridge, VRTA President-Elect and Community Service Chair, represented Virginia's retired teachers at the NRTA Community Outreach and Service Conference held at the Union League Club of Chicago, June 10-13, 2013. Forty-three executive directors, presidents, community service chairs, and volunteers from throughout the country were represented at the conference which was aimed at building skills, networking with community service counterparts from around the country, and sharing innovative approaches to engaging volunteers.

The theme for the conference was Better Together: Inspiration and Innovation in Community Outreach and Service. Phyllis enumerated projects in which VRTA members were active. Those areas included community service programs, successor planning, sharing recognition programs, volunteer recruitment, and logging volunteer hours. Other breakout sessions included recruitment and retention of membership, volunteer recognition brainstorming, telling volunteer stories, and inspired leadership.

Leaders at the conference were Rebecca Villarreal, NRTA; Richard Leider, Life Reimagined Institute for Innovation; Jennifer Baier, Associate State Director, and Terry Edwards, Innovation Advisor for Office of Volunteerism.

Focusing on Our Past

VRTA President Ruth S. Andrews was named Virginia Retired Teacher of the Year at NRTA's 50th Anniversary Convocation in San Diego, California. During her presidency, the Virginia General Assembly declared January

Ruth Andrews

31 to be Retired Teachers' Day to honor retirees and led to our Lobby Day. VRTA pushed the passage of a state constitutional amendment making our retirement funds a true trust; our first health care premium credit paid by the state passed; we maintained the automatic COLA (cost of living adjustment) each year; and we hired our first lobbyist.

Treasurer's Tidbits

VRTA lost a faithful and hardworking member, and I lost a friend, when our immediate past treasurer, Betty Vance Craft, passed away this summer. Although fighting cancer during much of her tenure as treasurer, Betty led VRTA through a difficult financial period. VRTA was spending much more than it was taking in when Betty took on the job as treasurer of VRTA. In her quiet, slow and methodical way, Betty led the organization back to a much more stable financial status, where we are once again spending within our means. Betty will be greatly missed and her support and assistance to your current treasurer during this transitional year has been gratefully received and appreciated.

Please note!!! You must file your e-postcard on line at IRS.gov in order to remain in the group!! This must be done in the time period from July 1, 2013 – November 15, 2013. You will need to have your unit's EIN number available when you file online. This is a simple process but it must be done annually in order to remain in the group. If your district or unit is not currently included in the VRTA Group Tax Exemption Plan under section 501 © 4 of the Code, you may submit the necessary documentation to the VRTA treasurer prior to March 1, 2014, along with a check to VRTA for $18.00 to defray the cost associated with adding the district or unit to the group.

The highlight of the March, 2013 HRTA meeting at the Hampton Roads Convention Center was a presentation about the Hampton University Proton Therapy Institute (HUPTI). Proton therapy is non-invasive, and its advantages are that it precisely targets tumors, spares healthy tissue and has reduced side effects. After a question and answer session, the HRTA members were invited to tour the facility and did so a few weeks later. That experience provided more information and opportunities to ask questions and a tour of this state of the art facility.

Roanoke City Busy During 2012-13

The Roanoke City Retired Educators' Association had a productive and interesting 2012-13 year. In September, Sharon Beasley, a personal trainer from the Roanoke Athletic Club, presented us with tips and exercises on how to stay physically fit and healthy. At our December holiday luncheon at the Hidden Valley Country Club, we were honored to have a former Roanoke City Schools' graduate, David Jenkins, perform selections on the violin. David has been blind for many years and has graduated from Radford University to become a musical therapist. In March, we welcomed David Webb, Head of References at the newly built Roanoke County Library. He described the services that the library offers as well as explaining that he not only helps with reference questions, but offers tutoring. At our May meeting, Brian Jacks, Associate State Director for AARP brought a message entitled, "AARP, Not Your Mother's Organization Anymore". ### VRTA Mailing List

In order to make the VRTA mailing list more accurate, names of people whose newsletters have been returned to VRTA three times in a row will be removed from the list this fall. If you know someone who should be receiving a newsletter and is not getting it, please let the newsletter editor know about this. Please continue to inform the VRTA treasurer about members address changes and deaths of VRTA members. With your help VRTA can cut the cost of the postage for mailing the newsletters.

Newsletter Articles

VRTA wants your news for the newsletters. It would be helpful if articles submitted for publishing would be emailed to the newsletter editor. If an article cannot be emailed, typing the article helps to ensure accuracy. Pictures can be emailed or mailed to the editor. The people that are pictured should have given permission for their pictures to be used in the newsletter. This is especially important if pictures of students are included with the article. All submitted articles will be used if space permits. Articles received after the deadline will likely not be included. The deadline for the Spring 2014 newsletter is February 25th.

VRTA Structure and Bylaws

One session at the Fall Conference will concern structure of the VRTA. We have met previously but I am not sure of the direction we should take on certain issues such as one state meeting per year as opposed to continuing with two. After our meeting in October at Blackstone, President Jim Bradford will be sending a questionnaire to each district and they will be asked to poll their local units. The subjects in that questionnaire will be generated from our session in October. If you plan to participate that day, come prepared with your own questions, concerns. We want to move forward in the future, but we want to let the majority of our membership rule.

The bylaws committee will also be making some recommendations for changes in 2014. Please bring or send any suggestions to me. The committee will consider every idea we receive. We already have a few proposed changes.

Turf Fire presents "Ireland in Song and Story"

During the VRTA Conference in October, Richmond based musical ensemble Turf Fire will present a rousing program of Irish songs that reflect the fascinating and turbulent history of the Emerald Isle. From lively slip jigs to haunting ballads, the songs tell the story of a people who endured famine, hardship and emigration, but retained a vibrant culture and indomitable spirit. Turf Fire is comprised of musicians Mary Smith (guitar and vocals), John Robison (banjo) and Marcy Horwitz (accordion). All three have a keen interest in music and history, making for a presentation that is both educational and entertaining.

During the VRTA Fall Conference Kelly Kenneally will be the keynote speaker on Tuesday morning. Kelly is a communications consultant with more than 20 years of public affairs & communications experience. In recent years, much of her work has revolved around establishing a national research and education public policy non-profit, the National Institute on Retirement Security. Thanks to the units that submitted With Our Youth and Community Service reports. Six of the With Our Youth reports were sent to NRTA for national judging. The community service reports are still being reviewed for Most Active Unit Award. Keep up the good work in the reporting of your volunteer hours. You are making VRTA one of the leaders in the nation. Don't forget to bring your scrapbooks to the fall conference for display. ## Listening to the Membership

It has been a privilege to be able to communicate with so many members of the VRTA. It is amazing the number of idea you have for making the VRTA the organization you want.

NEWSLETTER- Members have suggested an opt out option for receiving the newsletter by email. Each unit will provide a list of members who still want it to be mailed. One person at the state level will then email the newsletter to district presidents who will then forward it to the units. The current state mailing list is being updated. This fall the names of members who have had newsletters returned three times will be removed.

MEMBERSHIP- The state VRTA tax umbrella now extends to cover most units. Units need to begin to require all members to be local, district, and state members. The VRTA needs to require that all new members must join all three.

WEBPAGE- The web page must become user friendly. Forms need to be posted in time to use for deadlines. Perhaps move the deadline for newsletter one month earlier.

BLACKSTONE SESSIONS- There is a need for a session on fundraising and ways to use the local media. The sessions could be brainstorming sessions to discuss these ideas.

These would then be compiled and sent to the local units.

AWARDS-INCENTIVES- The VRTA needs an incentive program for attending Blackstone. This might include a drawing for the top five units for most mileage to attend, largest percentage, and largest actual number attending. Along with the current awards, the VRTA needs to recognize the top five or ten active units in the state.

Many units do not do some of the current projects awarded but are very active.

This might be a monetary award toward a units scholarship program.

STATE WIDE PROJECT- Several groups have discussed the need for a statewide project. One idea presented was books for a library in need in a rural or intercity setting. Another idea suggested was school supplies or library books. A unit would fill out a form. If select by the VRTA, the newsletter would publish the goal and how members might donate to the fund. The VRTA would present this through the local unit with a picture and story for the newsletter.

KEEP THEM COMING- It is wonderful that we have an organization with so many ideas. Keep them coming and together we can make a difference. See you in Blackstone.
