A Message from the VRTA President

My term as President of the Virginia Retired Teachers Association has been an inspiring experience that has brought about many positive changes. Moving VRTA’s State Conferences from Blackstone Conference Center to DoubleTree was a major undertaking that required a tremendous amount of planning and team effort. Each and every detail was carefully considered. Those of us that travel a great distance to attend the state conferences appreciate the comfortable lodging and attractive surroundings. An updated venue has enhanced the learning experience. The purpose of VRTA’s state conferences is to educate its members by keeping them strongly connected and informed.

VRTA’s vision is that all retired school personnel will be safe, productive, informed and financially secure in retirement. In order for our vision to be a reality, it is important that all VRTA volunteers work as a team. This team includes state officers, committee chairs, district officers and unit leaders. Success begins at the state level and expands all the way to the local units. Communication is our lifeline and there are still many broken links. Since we are all volunteers and do not have a state office, sharing information is vital. I strongly encourage all District Presidents to attend the Spring Delegate Assembly or send a representative. Unit leaders and VRTA members are also encouraged to attend the conference on April 23-24, 2018. It takes a dedicated team working together to make VRTA the organization that entices new members. We want to keep retired school personnel strongly connected and informed.

Newsletters, Facebook and email are all affective means of communication. Most members are now computer savvy and we rely heavily on individuals checking email, reading newsletters, checking Facebook and sharing information at unit and district meetings.

Benjamin McCartney will become VRTA’s President on July 1, 2018. His installation ceremony will be on Tuesday, April 24, 2018, during the Spring Delegate Assembly. Other VRTA officers will also be elected and installed at this time. Ben will be a great asset to our organization. With our support, he will be an enthusiastic leader that will help our organization expand its horizons. I encourage all of you to attend the Spring Delegate Assembly and welcome our new slate of officers for the years 2018-2020.

It’s Your Money: A Brief Introduction to the Budget Process
Bonnie Atwood, VRTA Lobbyist

In VRTA, we talk a lot about bills—the many bills that would affect education, retirement, seniors. The bills that would create new laws, revise existing laws, or repeal laws. We talk a little less about the budget: the elephant in the room that throws its weight around behind the bills. The budget can make a bill, kill a bill, or make a bill completely ineffective. The process is a little bit tricky. Let’s take a look.

The budget is a two-year process. On even years, such as this year, 2018, the budget is adopted. These years are called “long sessions,” because they last longer than odd-numbered sessions. On odd-numbered years, next year, the budget is amended. Here are the basic steps. Keep in mind this is greatly abbreviated:

1. State agencies analyze their needs. They review their mission. They often collect input from their customers. They figure out how much money to ask for, and how it will be spent. They submit this information to the Department of Planning and Budget (DPB). This is usually done in the early fall.

2. Budget is developed. DPB analyzes the agencies’ budget requests. They verify costs and confirm needs. All of this information is turned over to the Governor and his Cabinet Secretaries on or before December 20 in the form of a bill, called the “Budget Bill.” The Governor presents the Budget Bill to the legislators in a formal speech given in December.

3. Legislature acts. When the General Assembly convenes in January, the Governor’s proposed budget is discussed in committees. In the House of Delegates, the budget is reviewed by the House Appropriations Committee. In the Senate, the budget is reviewed by the Senate Finance Committee. The committees may introduce amendments to the bill. When the bill has been reviewed and amended, it comes to the floor of each house. There, it may be amended further. Then each house votes on the amended budget bill. The resulting bills—a House version and a Senate version—then “cross over” to the other house. There, the bill is debated and voted on again. There are inevitably differences in the two finished products. Those differences are resolved by “conference committee” appointed by senior legislators. The final budget bill is then sent to the Governor for his signature.

4. Governor reviews budget. The Governor receives this bill. He can sign it, veto the entire bill or specific items, or recommend amendments. If the Governor vetoes the bill, or parts of the bill, then the bill goes back to the legislature for a “reconvened session” in April. If the Governor recommends amendments, they are considered by the legislature at this time. The legislature can vote changes in or out.

5. Budget is executed. The final budget passed by the General Assembly goes into effect on July 1 in even-numbered years, and on the date of passage in odd-numbered years.
I thank NRTA for the use of the catchy title, NRTA IN THE KNOW, their occasional but informative e-newsletter sent to state RTA leaders across the country. Both NRTA and VRTA keep retired teachers abreast of the important issues of the day and encourage them to enjoy this stage of their lives as they develop new interests and serve their communities in ways they never thought possible.

The Legislative Committee will make sure you are “in the know” about what happened in the General Assembly this year when you come to our workshop at the state meeting Monday afternoon, April 23. What effect did so many new delegates, a lot of them women, have on passing and defeating legislation? How might we be more effective next year? Are there other issues we need to consider in 2019? These and other questions will help us to be “in the know” as we look forward to another year. And a mystery guest legislator who is “in the know” will give us his perspective on the 2018 session and the things he sees in Virginia’s future.

We always want to be “in the know” about retirement, so the staff of VRS will be with us again on Tuesday morning, April 24, to bring us up to date on the status of the trust fund and any changes that have occurred or are anticipated.

Those of us who have been coming to the VRTA state meetings for a long time understand how helpful it is to hear the speakers, participate in discussions, and learn first hand about how this organization works. We value the friendships we have made and look forward to meeting other members. We try to relay information to the members of our units and districts when we go home, but it is impossible to recreate experiences. So, we hope to see members from every unit at the DoubleTree in Midlothian in April so there will be even more of us “in the know.”

Alexandria Retired Teachers

The Alexandria Retired Teachers Association had Elaine Flynn interpret in full dress Alice Roosevelt Longworth. She told us all the political gossip stories of her time period. She then placed various hats, pearls or gloves on members to become eight past first ladies. In October we had the Five Pillars of Brain Health by AARP Community Ambassador, Suba Satyuarayan. We learned a lot about keeping our brain healthy. In November we attended Arlington’s ARTA meeting on a new book about Hemingway. In December we heard the George Washington Middle School Orchestra perform a holiday concert for us. They were wonderful.

Twelve members of the Buchanan County Retired Teachers Association and four guests met December 11, 2017, at Peking Restaurant. Brad Napier, the guest speaker, talked about the Boys & Girls Club of Central Appalachia and the ways the organization serves the students in Buchanan County. BCRTA made donations to the Boys & Girls Club, Buchanan County Social Service’s Coal Miners Christmas and Heritage Hall’s activity department. Patricia Hogston, BCRTA President and Nina McClanahan, VRTA President presented checks to Brad Napier, Chairman of the Board for Boys and Girls and to Penney Jennell, activity’s volunteer at Heritage Hall.

Arlington/District U

Meeting in February on “Crossover Day”, Arlington/District U, had a workshop to activate interaction with the Virginia Legislature, focused on issues pertinent to educators in the 2018 General Assembly. Jeanne Trabulsi, Legislative Chair, is shown in the photo with Vice President, Lynne Lilly and Anita Scott as they scribe focused notes to selected legislators. In preparation, print outs of the gist of four education related bills which came before the House of Delegates were presented and reviewed. Most did not receive sufficient votes to proceed to the next level of legislation, but they are worthy and may recur. Providing materials of pen, paper, names and Richmond addresses of persons who voted for or against having several bills come to the upper house, the ARTA members used the “un-cyber”, but effective mode of handwritten letters to the “Honorable” delegates, thanking them for service and sharing opinions for the future. Most of the letters concentrated on bills that are now sidetracked but may appear again. The focused bills were on increasing mental health counselors for high schools, reducing the amount of SOL testing required by the state, developing and underwriting a corps of new teachers who will “pay back” their education by working in areas with underachieving children. The letters went out in the afternoon mail. This was a highly effective program and worthy of repetition.

Before packing up the supplies to be delivered to the students at Burbank Elementary School, HRTA members Bonnie Herncall, Calvin Mansfield and Doris Williams and Burbank Principal Ashley Ide displayed some of the items. Also, the members donated over $700 which will be divided among the four elementary schools which have Uniform Closets. We are off to a great year!

PWRTA President Lora Ker

Williamsburg RTA

The Williamsburg Unit of the VRTA ended the year with a cookout featuring live music, good food and games. Many retirees attended and thoroughly enjoyed everything. A recent illness for Mr. Shade Palmer did little to cramp his style—he was the same gracious host that he’s always been. It was a wonderful affair.

Officer Dickinson of the WMBG Police Department spoke to the group about SCAMS—especially those directed towards the elderly. He also talked about abuse of the elderly and stated that we should not hesitate to involve the police if we feel that a loved one is being abused by a caretaker. He talked about how the police work with schools and parents to help monitor children’s behavior in more positive ways. It was a very enlightening session.

Roanoke City Retired Educators

The Roanoke City Retired Educator’s Association (RCREA) has met twice since the beginning of the 2018-19 school year. At our Fall meeting, several important legislative items were introduced by our legislative committee and discussed with the membership. These issues were going to be addressed at the District P Legislative Forum and the Fall VRTA Conference in Richmond. Our guest speaker for the day was Roanoke contributing writer and humorist Dan Casey, who authors regular columns for the Roanoke Times. He presented a very enjoyable memoir and the effect teachers had on his life.

At our holiday gathering, we met at Montano’s Restaurant. The legislative committee addressed and discussed issues pertaining to the Governor’s proposed biennial state budget and Legislative Day in Richmond. The focus was on concerns that will impact educators statewide. Members were presented with the revised bylaws of the organization. Holiday entertainment was provided by the chamber music group Quintessence Strings.

The December luncheon program was dedicated to "Youth In Our Community." School supplies, mittens/gloves and hats were collected to be donated to eight (8) District Q Elementary Schools. R-HRTA Members also made a generous monetary donation to the Feed More/Back Pack Program. This program fills the nutrition gap for school age children in need. Many of our members will read to children at these eight schools during Black History Month and on Read Across America/Dr. Seuss Day.

The highlight of the December Luncheon Program was the holiday music presented by the Senior Connection Choir. The joy of giving and the holiday spirit was felt by all in attendance.

Patrick County Retired Teachers

At a recent meeting of the Patrick County Retired Teachers Association, members made and designed bowls to be used in the upcoming Empty Bowl Event, a community soup meal with proceeds helping to support the local food bank. Norma Bozenmeyer demonstrated shaping the clay and making different designs on the clay. The next step is the firing of the bowls in a kiln and later the glazing, both done Bozenmeyer. Members made approximately twenty-five bowls. Those who attend the meal can keep the handmade bowls.

Other activities carried out by the Patrick County Retired teachers are conducting a local food drive to provide for the local food bank; providing a picnic for PARC, a center that employs disabled individuals; having Christmas Party of music for the developmental center, a center for severely handicapped; donating to Christmas Cheer, 4-H organization, and Back-Pack Program, and volunteers provide services and entertainment at the local nursing home and residential living center and tutor and read to students in the schools. Plans are in the making for preparing “Go Bags” for foster parents and donating lice medication to the elementary schools.

Petersburg/Prince George Retirees Give Christmas Cheer

The Petersburg/Prince George unit of the Virginia Retired Teachers Association hosted its District D meeting at Zion Baptist Church in Petersburg on Monday, December 11, at noon and it was a resounding success.

After the call to order, the welcome, and the Pledge of Allegiance, they had a delicious lunch after which the P/PG Choral beautifully sang a medley of Christmas songs ending with a sing-a-long.

The business session started with the last meeting’s minutes and continued with committee reports with some committee chairman absent.

After the roll call for attendance awards, door prizes were issued but not before everyone received a gift!

District N Community Service Fall 2017

Each Fall, members in District N units are asked to bring new socks, gloves, mittens, hats, and scarves to bring to the District N meeting. The items are then sent to Rev. Ben Farrar of First Baptist Church in Eagle Butte, South Dakota, and distributed to the community Dakota Sioux.

From the December 17, 2017, blog spot, we learn: “First Baptist Church is about half a mile away from the border between Dewey County and Ziebach County. These counties are the third poorest in the nation, and the poorest in the nation, respectively. So there is no shortage of immediate need in our community. Fortunately for us, we have friends from across America who have generous hearts and a willingness to share their bounty. They send a great quantity of clothes and other useful things to us, so we can distribute them to the poor. And whenever we have a good quantity of these things stored up, we host a big giveaway at the church. We had one of these this November, when dozens of people from all over the community came and took possession of high-quality donated clothes, without cost.” Additional information can be found at http://eaglebuttefbc.blogspot.com/

This year, many of the items donated were hand crafted by members and friends of the Winchester City Retired Teachers Association. We in District N are proud to be part of their big giveaways. Sending these items keep those who choose them warm; and, in turn, our hearts are warmed.

Hanover Retired School Employees

Hanover Retired School Employees Association - District S held its fall meeting on Thursday, October 15, 2017 at The Hanover Center for Trades and Technology (THCTT) in Hanover County, Virginia. Before the business session, we had a delicious brunch that was catered by Chef Brian Huber and the THCTT culinary students. After an informative meeting, Justin Roerink, the principal gave us a tour of the facility so that we could see other Hanover County Public Schools students at work learning productive trades/skills as they prepare for their future careers and/or colleges.

During our meeting, members gave donations/contributions to the American Red Cross (ARC) that helped the ARC with emergency relief in the State of Virginia, particularly during the recent hurricanes.

We were encouraged by Deborah Roane, our president to build our membership and to continue volunteering in our local communities. In order to promote personal and professional growth, members are encouraged to attend the spring and fall meetings of District “S” and VRTA conferences. The HRSEA executive officers Deborah Roane, Marty McDonnell, Charla Cordle, and Janet Christopher have met to strategize on how to increase membership by electronically emailing and mailing newsletters to prospective members, inviting recent retirees to meetings and offering transportation if necessary; and encouraging all members to bring their friends who are retirees.

District S is excited about our recently created HRSEA Scrapbook and the new and beautiful quilted HRSEA Banner created by Dr. Janet Christopher that was taken and displayed at the Fall VRTA 2017 Meeting.

On March 15, 2018, we will have our annual spring HRSEA Meeting with an AARP Representative speaking on informative topics pertinent to all retirees. In May, our annual HRSEA Scholarship will be given to a Hanover High School senior who is pursuing a degree in education.

District S membership is open to all retired Hanover County Public School Employees. Contact: Janet Christopher for more information at janet.christopher@verizon.net, or 804.737.5385.

Knowledge is Power and VRTA members that attend state conferences and participate in the afternoon sessions are better equipped with factual information that is an inspiration to keep local members strongly connected and informed. Effective communication and proper training is necessary for VRTA to thrive. With this in mind, sessions are planned to enrich our lives and improve our organization.

- LEADERSHIP—Phyllis Eastridge, Immediate Past President, will present a two-part session on Leadership. Part 1 will include responsibilities of the officers, committees, and dates when activities should be completed. Part 2 will include Leadership Styles and using “Success Signals” for effective leadership. John Maxwell said, “The greatest skill needed for success is the ability to get along with other people.” Effective leaders know what signals to send for success. When you understand the signals of others and when you communicate in ways that get your intended message across, you send success signals.

- RTA HISTORY—Judy Dickerson and Joyce Williams of RCRT will present a session that traces current Medicare coverage back to a time when insurance coverage for retired teachers was absent. Ethel Percy Andrus, a teacher, saw a need and became an activist. Because of her efforts and with struggles, retirees have coverage today.

- MEMBERSHIP RECRUITMENT—Reba Evans, VRTA Vice-President and Membership Chair’s, session will be a round table discussion. Establishing an improved plan for recruiting new members is vital. Are we asking too much or not enough of our members? How can we get our message out to all our members? What can VRTA do for its members? Do you have any ideas of things VRTA can do as a benefit to its members? Do local members know about VRTA and NRTA and their benefits? What are the problems with getting new members? What can we do to keep our members? Is your local unit growing in membership? What are you doing to make this growth happen? If you are losing members, what do you think is causing this? Do you do anything to promote your unit in newspapers, etc. Volunteering—do you do this as a group or individual? Do you report to VRTA?

- VRTA BENEFITS—Jim DuBrueler Jr., VRTA Agent of Record, will be presenting a session with current information on, Medicare, Long Term Care, Fixed Annuities and Medicare Supplements.

- RICHMOND AREA TOURISM—Tamera Wilkins-Harris, Manager of Events & Sponsorship and Jason Whitt, Convention Sales Manager will present a session on Richmond Tourism. As the Region’s primary marketer, Richmond Region Tourism welcomes meeting planners, tournament organizers, tour operators, travel media and leisure travelers. A nonprofit organization, Richmond Region Tourism offers a comprehensive array of information and services.

- FACEBOOK—Join AARP Virginia State Office’s Multicultural Outreach Director for a fun, hands-on interactive workshop, and learn how to get the most from your mobile device and Facebook. Social media has been a wonderfully easy way for many of us to stay connected with our old college friends and share those cute pictures of our grandchildren, but Genéa Luck will share tips on how to make your Facebook page livelier; as well as share the good news and community service projects of your VRTA Chapter.
